"STICK AND STUDY" IS ADVICE GIVEN BOYS IN THE CORN CLUB

Rush County Youngsters Numbering 110 Receive Corn to Plant Plot and Word of Encouragements

EACH ONE HAS SPONSOR

Rushville Boosters Club Lets Boys Know Wednesday Night Business Men Are With Them

REFRESHMENTS ARE SERVED

Boys and Their Dads Hear Short Talks by County Agent, Argus Wagoner and Others

"Stick and study."

This was the advice Argus Wagoner of Orange township, yellow corn king of Indiana, gave 110 boys of the Rush County Boys' Corn Club, at the court house Wednesday night, when fifteen pounds of corn was distributed to each boy for planting his acre of corn, which will be the basis of the club contest.

"Go to it and we are for you," in so many words, was the composite bit of encouragement the boys received from their sponsors, Rushville business men who were present for the distribution and "get acquainted" session.

Each boy got acquainted with the man who had been selected to act as his sponsor for the club work and who will watch the development of his club work and keep in touch with him until the next county corn show.

Donald D. Ball presided and short talks were made by Herschel VanMatre, county agricultural agent; Omer Trusler, former president of the Rushville Boosters Club; Argus Wagoner, Rush county corn king and winner of the sweepstakes on yellow corn in the state; John A. Tittsworth and Fred Bell, president of the Rush County Farm Bureau.

Refreshments of sandwiches, brick ice cream, cake and coffee were served during the evening for the boys, their dads and members of the Boosters Club. The program was held in the assembly room, at the conclusion of which the corn was distributed and a flashlight picture was taken of the group.

The program opened with the singing of two verses of "America" and Mr. Ball commented on the purpose of the meeting, saying that "This is as fine a looking bunch of boys as I ever saw." He said the club had some fine seed corn to distribute, but that it did not compare with the

PATROLMAN EXONERATED IN GRAND JURY REPORT

Claude Smith Freed of Blame Following Investigation and Ignoramus is Returned

SEVEN INDICTMENTS FOUND

Patrolman Claude Smith, who shot and fatally wounded Ray P. Lakin a few weeks ago, was exonerated of all blame by the Rush county grand jury that investigated the affair in detail, and an ignoramus to that effect was returned by the investigators in their report Wednesday afternoon.

In addition to the ignoramus, the grand jury also returned seven true bills, and Judge Sparks has ordered the clerk to issue bench warrants accordingly, and arrests may be made on them by Friday or Saturday.

The grand jury took up in detail the shooting of the former police officer by Patrolman Smith, and many witnesses were summoned and testified before the investigators. The grand jury, in the report, stated that there were insufficient grounds for an indictment against the police officer, and by returning a complete report, it exonerates him from blame.

The nature of the seven true bills was not disclosed today, and these charges will not be known until the arrests are made. There are five prisoners in jail, and perhaps some of the indictments involve charges pending against the prisoners.

Real Inspiration

Rush county boys "shoot" high. This was demonstrated by the remark of a member of the boys' corn club, last night, who was being "joshed" by his Rushville business man sponsor about winning corn prizes. "You watch me," said this youngster, who happened to be from Washington township, in the best and most modern parlance. "I'll knock 'em in Chicago and then I'll knock 'em in London."

fine corn king seed which was there. The county agent outlined the corn club plan and its possibilities. "We have been working on this project since last September," he said "and it is certainly gratifying to see such a fine group of boys."

He asked boys who wished they lived south of Andersonville to hold up their hands. None responded and he asked all who wished they lived north of Rush county to hold up their hands.

"I know none of you would want to live where they grew corn only eight inches tall," the county agent continued. "You boys are satisfied and that shows the location is all right. The seed is all right and the citizens of Rush county are all right; so everything is all right."

Mr. VanMatre asked how many boys had selected the location of their plot and the response was 100 per cent. He asked how many had given the plot a good application of barn yard manure and many held up their hands.

"You and your dad know better than anyone else whether you should apply a sack of commercial fertilizer," he continued. "Half of the cultivating can be done before the corn is planted. Get dad to give your plot an extra touch by discing it a second time if necessary. Have dad test out the planter before he drives on to your plot so that he will have the right plates in the planter."

"If your ground is strong enough, perhaps a few of you boys will be interested in pulling the plants together. This will get you a larger yield, but will interfere with wheat sowing next fall."

Mr. VanMatre emphasized the necessity of club members keeping their record books neat and clean as their appearance counts in a show. He urged the use of another book in making notes and use the record book only for making the final record.

"If your plot is located in a large field," he added, "keep account of all time spent in plowing, discing, planting and cultivating, and divide by number of acres in field to get data for your record book. It is easy to keep if you keep it up to date."

Mr. VanMatre showed the possibilities of the club work by calling attention to the fact that members can compete in the National Hay and Grain show in Chicago, Nov. 30, Dec. 1, 2, 3, 4, and 5; the Rush County Corn show Dec. 15, 16 and 17 in Rushville; the Indiana state corn show at Lafayette, Jan. 11, 12, 13 and 14 and the Indiana state fair show in September, 1926.

Each boy in the club will be required to bring 60 selected ears he

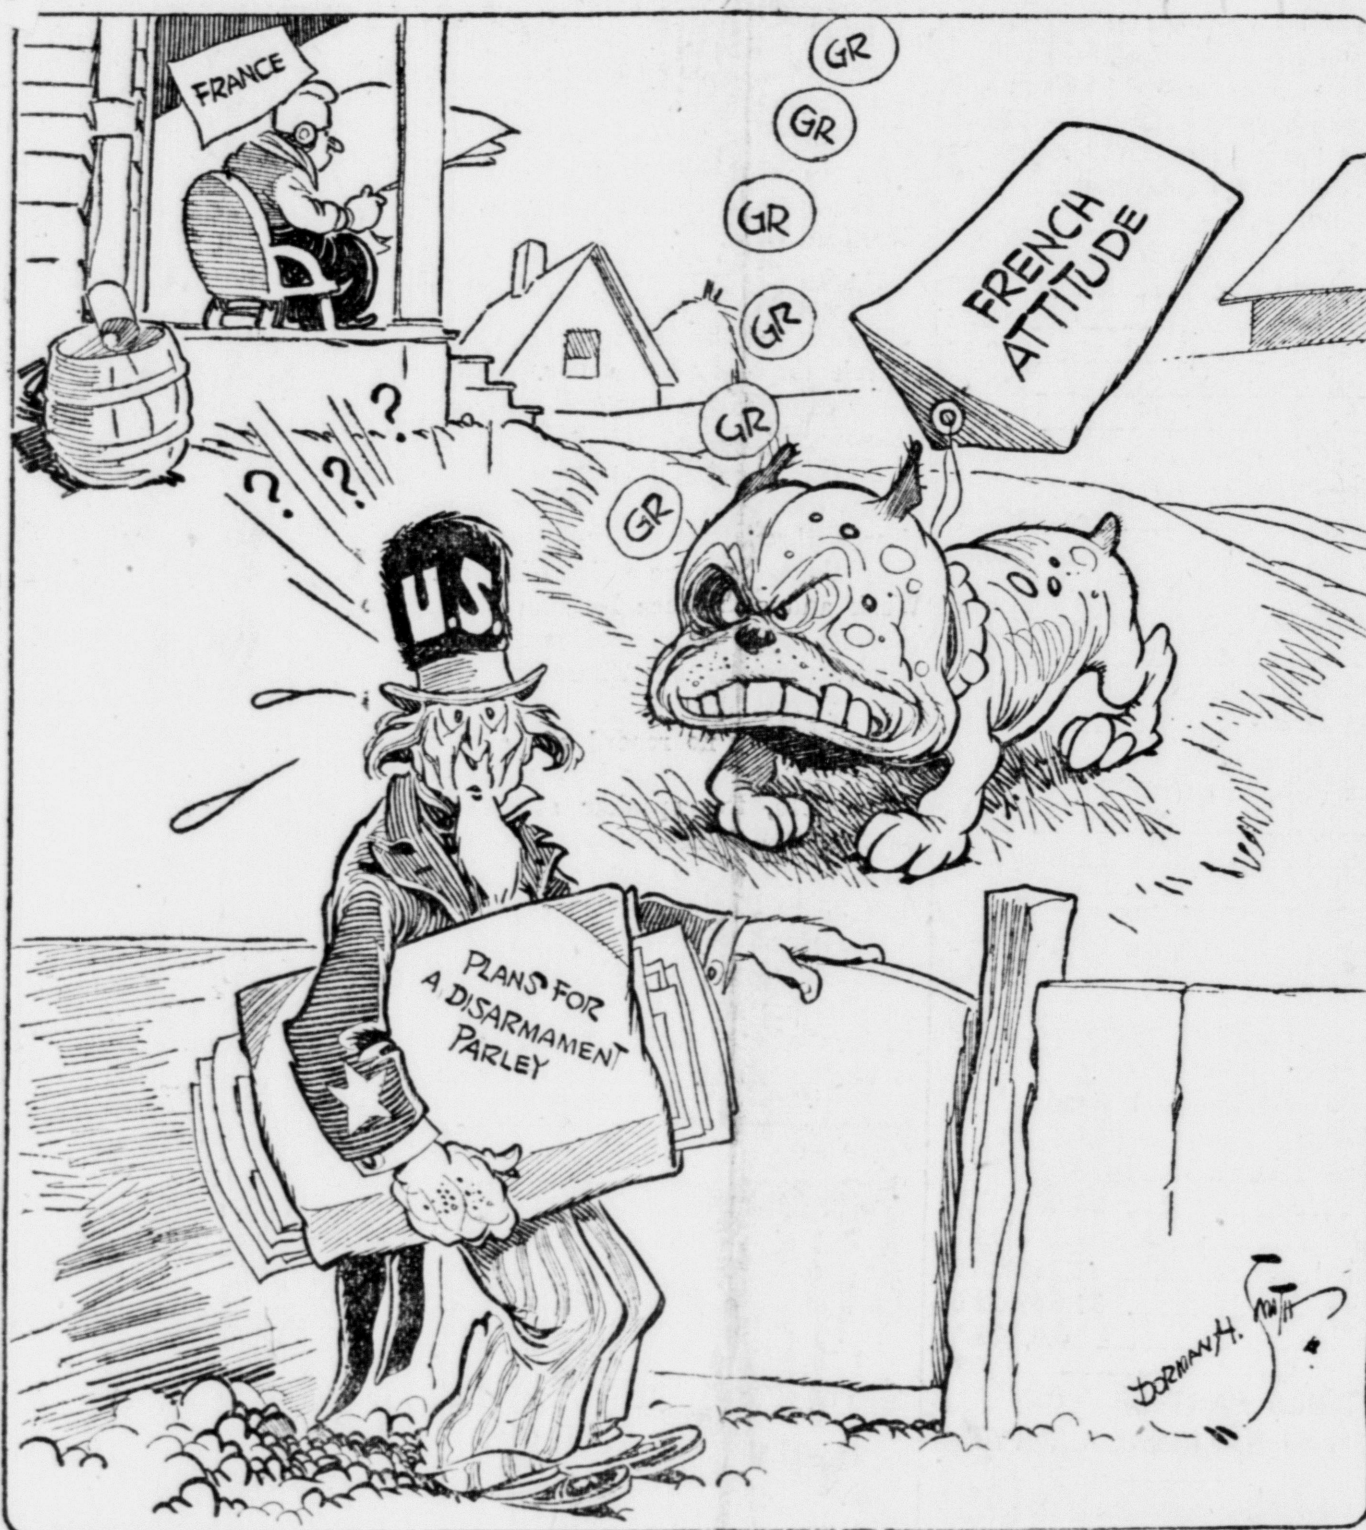

Wagoner's Corn is Named

The corn distributed to the members of the Rush county boys' corn club has been named. It was announced Wednesday night that it will be known as "Reid's Yellow Dent—Argus Wagoner strain." This corn won sweepstakes on yellow corn at the state corn show at Purdue in January of this year.

ONE BOOK AGENT THAT'S BLUFFED

INDICTMENT FOR MURDER LOOMS UP

Will Result, Prosecution Says, if Miss Madge Oberholzer, Victim of Attack, Dies

NO HOPE OF HER RECOVERY

D. C. Stephenson Remains in Seclusion as Attorney Prepares for Court Battle Saturday

(By United Press)

Indianapolis, Ind., April 9—Re-indictment of D. C. Stephenson, former grand dragon of the Ku Klux Klan of Indiana, on a charge of murder in the event of death of Miss Madge Oberholzer, assault victim, loomed today.

If justice takes its usual course, Stephenson will be reindicted on a charge of murder if Miss Oberholzer dies, Charles Fox, former supreme court justice, assisting the prosecutor in the case, declared.

It is understood the murder indictment would be brought on the ground that Stephenson had become a party to the girl's death, after refusing medical attention, after the girl took poison at Hammond, Indiana.

Miss Oberholzer has been in an unconscious condition for nine days from the effects of bichloride of mercury, taken in an attempt at suicide.

There was no change in her condition today and doctors have given up all hopes for her recovery.

Stephenson is already under indictment charged with kidnapping and assaulting the young woman.

Dr. John Kingsbury, her physician, said the girl cannot survive although she may live for several days yet.

Specialists held another consultation and found that the critical stage in her illness was nearing.

Stephenson remained in seclusion while Eph Inman, his attorney, prepared arguments which will be made in criminal court Saturday in an attempt to secure dismissal of the indictments charging Stephenson with abducting and assaulting the girl.

The room in which Miss Oberholzer lay in an unconscious condition at the home of her father, George Oberholzer, in Irvington was banked with flowers today.

Neighbors sent in the flowers as a tribute to Miss Oberholzer, who was known as one of the most popular girls in Irvington.

Raise Sum at Weekly Meeting, Which is Addressed by the Rev. Eldon VanWinkle

GREENFIELD KIWANIANS HERE

The Rev. Eldon VanWinkle of Pittsburg, former Rush county boy who is conducting pre-Easter services at the Main Street Christian church this week, spoke to the Kiwanis club today noon at the regular weekly luncheon at the Odd Fellows Temple.

A collection was taken among the members of the club for Tillie Mabara, well known colored woman who is in need as the result of a fire a few days ago, which destroyed all of her household goods. A fund is being raised to provide her with another home. The Kiwanians raised $36.30 for the aged colored woman.

Five members of the Greenfield Kiwanis club were here as club guests boosting the annual revue put on by the club, "The Brandywine Follies," which will be presented April 23 and 24. The last night will be Kiwanis night and local Kiwanians are expected to attend. In the visiting delegation were Ed Williams, president of the club, E. V. Toms, H. B. Barr, Frank Guthrie and H. J. Rhue.

Other guests present were Judge Will M. Sparks, John A. Tittsworth and Link Gary, all of this city. Judge Remy of the Indiana appellate court will address the club next week.

CLUB WOMEN OF THE COUNTY IN SESSION

Chief Event of County Convention is Address by Former State President, Mrs. Rumlper

LUNCHEON SESSION IS HELD

Routine Business Occupies Attention During Morning, Annual Reports Being Given

The convention of the Rush County Federation of Women's clubs opened this morning at the First Presbyterian church with a good attendance, most of the clubs of the county being represented by one or two delegates. The program opened at 9:30 o'clock and continued throughout the day.

The morning session consisted mostly of routine work, the registration of delegates, reading the collect and the invocation by Mrs. Cora Saxton of Falmouth. The secretary also gave a report of the work during the year and a report of the clubs in the county.

Short talks were given also by different members as follows: "American Citizenship and Junior Membership," Mrs. Louis Lambert; "Better Homes," Mrs. John Jordan; "History," Mrs. Ella J. Coffin; "Memorial Trees," Mrs. C. H. Smullen; "Public Welfare," Mrs. Robert Ray; "Literature," Mrs. Harold Pearce; "Publicity," Mrs. Curt Hester.

At the noon hour an elaborate banquet was served in the basement of the church and beautiful bouquets of flowers formed the decorations for the banquet tables. During the dinner hour a delightful musical program was given, consisting of solos by Mrs. Alva Aikin, Mrs. Neff Ashworth and Mrs. Alfred Norris. Phyllis Ann Baker and Miss Mary Kitehen favored the guests with readings and Mrs. Russell Harton gave a violin solo. Prof. D. S. McIntosh, supervisor of music in the local schools, was present at this time and conducted a community sing.

The afternoon's program was devoted to a devotional hour followed by a talk by Mrs. Rumlper of Indianapolis, past president of the Federated clubs of the state. A business hour will conclude the convention.

MEETINGS PART OF NATIONAL CAMPAIGN

Disciples of Christ Trying for 100,000 Converts by Easter, Evangelist Announces

EFFORTS POINT TO EASTER

Meaning of Passover Meal and the Lord's Supper to be Explained at 1st Presbyterian Church

Pre Easter meetings continue to hold interest, with special services being held each night at the Main Street Christian and First Presbyterian churches, to culminate with a great day Sunday, Easter Sunday will be red letter day in all churches, most of the programs to begin with sunrise prayer meeting.

The meetings at the Christian church, being conducted by the Rev. Eldon K. VanWinkle, are a part of the Disciples of Christ "Each-one-win-one" Easter evangelist campaign which is being carried along on a national basis with a goal of 100,000 converted by Easter Sunday. This in turn is part of a five-year campaign for one million conversions.

The Rushville church, it was pointed out today, will rejoice to have a worthy part in this movement, and the meetings night after night, and the quiet, persistent work going on and the daily prayer meeting, all speak for a great day Easter.

A great rally attendance at Bible school is expected. A splendid program, missionary, evangelistic and devotional, has been arranged for the 6:30 Sunrise meetings. The gospel invitation for decisions and confessions, will be extended in every service during the day.

Everything will be in readiness for Easter Baptisms of all who come. The Rev. Mr. VanWinkle and the Main Street Christian church are inviting all members of the Christian church, who hold memberships "back home" in other cities to come Easter Sunday and take membership with the local congregation.

The Rev. Mr. VanWinkle preached last night on "That Treacherous Night," the night of the last supper. The scripture statement, John 13:30 "He (Julius Iseariot), having received the sop went out straightway; and it was night," was the theme.

The evangelist spoke of the awful black night of devilish design and passion inside the mind and conscience of the traitor. He said, "Such a night was not sudden, in a moment of time men do not mature dark deeds. That fall from uprightness, that act of embezzlement, that awful crime we read of, does not come suddenly. The roots of moral delinquency reach far back in early thoughts and wanderings of the human heart. So with Judas, he was treasurer, held the bag, became covetous, misappropriated funds, was a thief.

"One day in a beautiful social evening at the home of Lazarus, Martha and Mary, the devoted Mary took a pound of ointment, very precious and anointed the feet of Jesus. The covetous heart of Judas grew indignant. That soul, utterly out of harmony with the finer spirit that moved Mary, said 'why was not this ointment sold for three hundred shillings and given to the poor.' The comment of the historian is significant. 'This,' he said, 'not because he cared for the poor but because he was a thief and having the bag, Continued on Page Two

MORRISTOWN EDITOR GIVES BOND; FREED

C. S. Mercer, 54, at Liberty Following Slaying of Richard Walters, 40, Garageman

RESULT OF AN OLD DISPUTE

Walter Attempts to Obtain Retraction of Unfavorable Criticism as Fire Chief

WAS DENIED BY THE EDITOR

Meeting at Postoffice and Pressing by Walters of His Demands Leads To Fatal Shooting

Richard Walters, 40, better known as "Sudden Service Dick," garage owner of Morristown, was shot and killed instantly Wednesday evening at 6:30 o'clock by C. S. Mercer, 54, editor and owner of the Morristown Sun, and Mercer is at liberty on bond, charged with manslaughter.

The shooting terminated a controversy between the two, in which Walters is said to have taken exception to criticisms published in the newspaper, when he was in charge of the volunteer fire department.

The Shelby county grand jury today was called to meet next Monday to investigate the shooting of Walters.

On advice of his attorneys, Mercer refused to discuss further details of the shooting. It is indicated that Mercer will defend himself on a plea that he shot in self defense.

One day last week, Walters, acting as fire chief, turned in a false alarm in order to test the equipment and train the men. The new fire truck was purchased a year ago, and Walters was given the custody of it in his garage, and he was likewise appointed chief for the first year, without any salary.

After the test run was made last week, the editor of the weekly newspaper is said to have printed comments concerning the affair, to which Walters took exception. Last Friday, after the article had been published, Walters is said to have entered the office of the publisher, taken hold of him and threatened him unless he consented to retract the article.

According to the report, Mercer refused the demand. The two men met again last night at the postoffice, and Walters is said to have made an attempt to get Mercer to talk about the retraction, but Mercer refused. Continued on Page Six

RUSHVILLE MAN IS WOUNDED IN HOLDUP

Stanley Kemp, Spending Winter in Texarkana, Texas, Resists Highway Robbers

NATURE OF WOUNDS UNKNOWN

Stanley Kemp, 842 West Third street, who is spending several months at Texarkana, Tex., is in a hospital suffering from a gun shot wound inflicted by hold-up men, according to word received here by his sister, Miss Ella Kemp.

The seriousness of the wound has not been learned. Mr. and Mrs. Kemp left here in December to spend the winter and spring. He has been employed at a filling station in that city and on Monday afternoon was riding in the country adjacent to the city, when he was held up and robbed. After resisting, he was shot, and then robbed.

When found by the roadside, he was unconscious and was removed to a government hospital in that vicinity. As the city is located on the Texas and Arkansas state line, it was not learned, in what state the shooting happened.

It was reported in this city that the shot proved fatal, but no word to that effect has been received by Miss Kemp, and it is presumed that his condition is encouraging or she would have been notified to the contrary.

took away what was put therein." The Rev. Mr. VanWinkle continued, "The delicate yet loving rebuke the Saviour administered, when he said 'suffer her to keep it against the day of my burying,' must have tended to discover to Judas, his traitorous thoughts and caused him to smart as one whose designs were discovered. For at that other and last supper it is narrated that the traitorous suggestions of Satan had already entered the heart of Judas. At the point of John's question the Lord revealed to His disciples that it was Judas who would betray Him. Then as now christianity was to be attacked from within the house of her friends. Upon receiving the sop, Judas, under the grip of his Satanic purpose, arose instantly and left while the chistorian adds, 'It was night.'" The Rev. Mr. VanWinkle spoke of the terrible nights in Judas' soul—his desperate haste to betray Him to His enemies whom he knew had been seeking the life of his Lord. How with devilish haste, he cheapened the life of Christ, and bargained to betray Him for thirty pieces of silver.

Then conscience had her awful stormy claims, regret, remorse, anguish, the darkness of despair sank its victim into suicide.

It was the black night of hopeless gloom into which careless sinners gradually enter, who turn away from the Lord, he said. The evangelist then spoke of that night that closed the day of the Saviour's earthly ministry—the night of Gethsemane. Ye the night which contained the fore-gleams of resurrection joy, in the giving of the new commandment of love; the instillation of the Lord's supper; the promises of prayer and the Holy spirit; of obedience and fellowship of love; of rich life-fruitage of guidance into all truth; of peace in a world that persecuted them; or comfort under trials; of union in evangelizing the world; of the second coming of Christ to take believers to Himself. All these hopes to be made good by the Risen Lord.

First Presbyterian

Tonight at the First Presbyterian church the pastor, the Rev. Gibson Wilson, will explain the meaning of the Passover Meal and the Lord's supper. This event has a large meaning in the history of the Christian church throughout the world. Sometimes these days are called His Last Week and sometimes Passion Week because of his great passion or suffering, especially on Thursday and Friday.

There being no record of events of Wednesday in this last week in Jesus' life, the speaker studied a part of the teaching of Tuesday, giving particular attention to Chapters 23 to 25 in Matthew's Gospel.

The word "Woe," said the minister, expresses the great displeasure to Jesus with the religious leaders of that day. Their office is to be respected but not their ex-

Nothing Like These Results A Year Ago or Now

It is no trick to build a car that will go 65 or 70 miles an hour if it has a power plant big enough to haul a freight train.

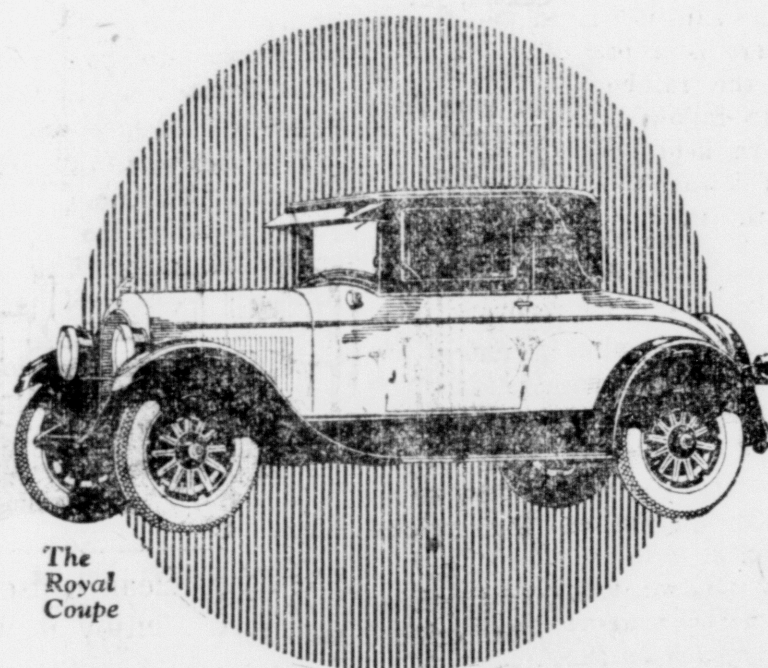

It's a great achievement to get over 70 miles an hour out of a motor of 3-inch bore and 4 3/4-inch stroke, with gasoline mileage safely above 20 miles per gallon.

And that's the wonder of the Chrysler Six—a wonder so different and so superior that Chrysler was forced to build over 32,000 cars to meet the first-year demand.

Of course you don't want to drive your Chrysler over 70 miles an hour. In fact you may never go that fast. But there is something you do want that only a speed-ability of 70 miles can give.

That something is sure, steady power for steepest hill or deepest sand, a pick-up to flash you out of a traffic tangle, sturdy, dogged pull so you can throttle to five, even two miles an hour, on high without "bucking."

That's Chrysler performance in a nutshell. You surely must drive the car. It's the only way you can fully appreciate that it is the best built car you ever rode in. We are always eager to demonstrate the Chrysler.

"Stick and Study" is Advice Given Boys in County Corn Club

raised this year to the Rush county show next winter. Enough will be selected to supply next year's club with seed and the remainder will be auctioned off to help pay prizes for the corn club show.
"The man who is not inoculated with the spirit and enthusiasm of youth," said Mr. Trusler in opening his short talk, "well, there is something wrong with him."
He commented on the work of individuals who had made the corn club possible—a single man conceiving it and a single man furnishing the corn.
"It is more important," he declared, "what boys think of a man than what a man thinks of boys. We want the boys to know that we are going to back them to the limit and give them all of the encouragement possible, and we want the respect of the boys."
"We are making history for Rush county tonight. We are going to visit the boys this summer and we want the boys to understand it is the boys we are coming to see. We may drop in at meal time, but that will make no difference. The thing is that we all want to truly believe in the boys and show them we do."
Mr. Wagoner urged the boys not to grow discouraged by setbacks but to study the problems as they arose and stick to the job. He reviewed the things that might happen to discourage a boy, adding "The wind may lay it flat and the weeds we have with us always."
Mr. Wagoner very modestly related his career as a corn grower, recalling that he first became interested 21 years ago. He first exhibited in the state show in 1901, and won third place, and the next time he showed, won sixth.
"I saw that would not do, because I was going backwards," Mr. Wagoner continued, "and I stopped for thirteen years and studied the corn. After that, I went back and won first in my section, all of which shows that it pays to stick."
Mr. Wagoner advised the study of photographs of champion ears to get an idea of the type, as the next best thing after having the ear itself for study.
"Study the corn plant all the way through and figure out things as they develop," he urged. "Think and stick and let the other boys know they have been in a horse race."
In closing, he said it was an old saying that there is a bag of gold at the end of the rainbow, but he advised boys to follow their rainbow to the corn field back of the barn and see if it wasn't right there.
Mr. Tittsworth, in discussing the ethics and morals of the corn club, said that there were many things entitling corn to be called king. He declared the corn plant to be the most beautiful in the world, and that corn is a most interesting product.
"L. M. Fogler, former corn king, once said," the speaker continued, "it was the most fascinating study because no two ears in the world are alike. We know no two people are alike, but we never imagined corn had individuality such as this."
Mr. Tittsworth commented on the way experts know corn—how the judge at the Rush county show recognized an ear he judged a year previously at another show.
"But we are more interested in the crop of boys than we are in the corn crop," he added. "It would be an awful thing to raise a fine corn crop and not a fine crop of boys. Some older people think we can't raise as good boys as once were raised, but we can. Most boys are just misguided, not bad."

Mr. Tittsworth expressed the view that most men are honest and pointed out that two basic elements of character entered into the corn club work—honesty and truthfulness. Honesty is a good policy, but a poor one to go by, he said, pointing out as a better one—"An honest man is the noblest work of God." The worst punishment a wrongdoer can have, he pointed out, is his own conscience.
Mr. Tittsworth commented on his experience with Mr. Wagoner, showing his corn had won because it was "honest corn."
"You boys have the best corn in the state," he added, "and I appeal to you boys to put as much conscientious effort into your corn crop and all other crops as Argus Wagoner has and you will go a long way."
"A boy's highest ambition is to be a fine man. His father is most likely to be his ideal. It is up to the fathers to set the right kind of example."

In closing, Mr. Tittsworth spoke of the problem of boys leaving the farm and said interesting them in farm work was the best solution of this difficulty.
Mr. Bell spoke for a few minutes regarding the development of seed corn testing in the county in three years and recounted what was being done in Johnson county with a central plat and nine men busy during the season.
"If we are going to go forward as we should," he asserted, "we must provide a place to test seed."

The Boys Corn Club

The Rush County Boys' Corn Club, which got under way with the distribution of state championship corn Wednesday night, is the most constructive step ever taken in Rush county for the betterment of agriculture and the county as a whole.

The fine spirit and enthusiasm which the boys and their dads displayed toward the project warmed the hearts of members of the Rushville Boosters' club who have worked diligently to organize the club.

Interesting the boys of Rush county in growing better crops and giving them something to work for will benefit every interest in Rush county. It will give them a new sense, a new appreciation of the dignity of the calling in which their fathers are engaged and which they are training to take up when they reach maturity.

The contact that Rushville business men will gain through the corn club, with the coming farmers of Rush county, will do the business men good in teaching them the farmers' problems.

An certainly every Rush county boy is going to strive harder to be a winner if he knows a man is watching him and is rooting for him all the time to win.

The Same Old Delusion

Taxpayers have dreams of lower taxes through smaller valuations are due for a jolt when it comes time to pay the taxes because taxes do not depend on arbitrary values placed on physical property by appraisal.

The old delusion will never wear off. So many property owners still cling to it as the panacea for all of their taxation ailments.

The amount of taxes levied is dependent entirely upon the amount of money required to run the government, local, township, county, state and federal.

As long as our present system of taxation prevails, government expenses will be the measure of taxes needed.

If valuations decline, as the result of new appraisements, expenses remaining the same, the tax rate will be higher. If valuations are increased, the tax rate will be lower, but the amount assessed will be unchanged if the expense of government does not vary.

This is a law that can't be escaped. No end of slicing down taxation values will change it.

The only way to reduce taxes is to reduce government expenditures. This is a fact that every taxpayer should remember instead of building up false hopes when new appraisements are made.

Hunt's Washington Letter

BY HARRY B. HUNT.

NEA Service Writer

WASHINGTON—Japan's recent treaty with Russia doesn't mean that Nippon is conspiring with the Soviet government to dominate the Pacific. It only means that Japan wants to eat.

At least that's the explanation given by Frederick Moore, counselor to the Japanese foreign office, now in Washington.

"Japanese eat about one pound of meat per person per year," says Moore. "But they eat one pound of fish per person per year."

"The big sources of Japan's fish supply are the waters off Sakhalin Island and the Behring Sea. These are Russian waters. An understanding between Japan and Russia, covering the scope to be allowed Japanese fishermen in these areas, in order to guarantee a fish supply for Japan, was the compelling motive behind the Japanese end of the agreement."

"Friendly relations between Japan and Russia also means a closer relationship between Japan and Europe. By sea, the trip from Japan to France and England, for instance, is about six weeks. By the Siberian Railway, this is cut to about two weeks."

"But as for shadowing a Japanese-Russian alliance designed to dominate the Pacific—Japan herself would be the last to wish the development of Russia as a maritime power. Anyone can see why."

THIS man Moore, incidentally, is a unique figure in official and diplomatic circles.

An American by birth, citizenship and allegiance, he is at the same time an official of the Japanese government in a sort of super-diplomatic job.

His title is "counselor to the Japanese foreign office." His duties, as his title indicates, are advisory. He is expected to keep the Japanese viewpoint straight on things American with the idea always uppermost of "promoting amicable relations between Japan and the United States."

Moore graduated into his job

after a score of years as a newspaper correspondent, stationed in the Far East. His many years in China and Japan for the Associated Press gave him an understanding of the oriental slant on affairs in general that can only be acquired by long and intimate association. His knack as a newspaper man enabled him to see both sides of the problems that arose to bother Japan, for instance, and he acquired the habit of volunteering suggestions. He brought to the Japanese foreign office, unofficially, the white man's psychology, backed up by a newspaper man's diplomatic but very understandable mode of expression. He could strip a State Department communication of its high-sounding and ambiguous phrases, and tell the Japanese just what Uncle Sam meant and why he meant it.

And the Japanese elder statesmen, recognizing though not publicly admitting that Japan is still a youngster among civilized nations, profited no little by his advice.

It was Baron, Shidehara, former Japanese ambassador to Washington, now head of Japan's foreign office, who signed Moore up for his job of undiplomatic diplomat. The fifth yearly contract has just been signed. Which would seem to indicate that Moore has been giving satisfaction as well as advice.

Moore alternates between Japan and the United States, first a year here, then a year there, in order to keep his contacts in both countries fresh. The United States is still "home" to him however, and he's educating his children in the U. S. A.

Moore and Baron Matsudaira, the new Japanese ambassador, present the long and short of diplomacy in Washington.

Moore is tall, lanky—a human lath. Matsudaira is short, roly-poly. They make an odd team. Both admit the same pet aversion, however—the jingo who is always trying to stir hostilities between U. S. and Nippon.

The costumes worn by Miss Florence Vidor, who plays the title role in "Christine of the Hungry Heart," Thomas H. Ince's new First National production now at the Princess theater, will bring envy to every feminine heart.

The first scenes in "Christine" show Miss Vidor as a radiant bride, in a most wonderful creation. Each successive scene finds her in more and more wonderful costumes.

Miss Vidor is a lover of laces, and is the owner of a very fine collection of antique laces including shawls and mantillas. One of this latter is worn in the fancy dress ball scenes in "Christine."

Miss Vidor is particularly fond of chintilly and rose point and her screen frocks, wherever permissible, reflect her love of lace.

"Our Hospitality," Castle

A detailed enumeration of all the severities faced by Buster Keaton, the Metro star, and his forces in making his latest Joseph M. Schenck comedy, "Our Hospitality," being shown at the Castle theatre would call to mind the ordeal of Washington and his men at Valley Forge.

Buster had a railroad train constructed, a facsimile of the first engine ever built, "The Rocket." The trip on the screen runs off smoothly enough. Film fans, however, will see nothing of the times Buster had to alight from his coach and help his staff put the engine back on the track.

"Our Hospitality," Buster's second feature-length comedy, is a travesty on American life in the early 1830s.

RUSHVILLE, IND. NORTH SIDE OF SQUARE

Dempsey's Row

By HENRY L. FARRELL
(United Press Sports Editor)

New York, April 9—Jack Dempsey has a laugh and there may have been chuckles all over the country when the New York Boxing commission placed him on the ineligible list for refusing to accept the challenge of Harry Wills.

Perhaps Dempsey doesn't care what the New York commission does to him or about him and it might be that he welcomed the sentence as it gave him a good excuse to keep promoters away from him and allowed him the liberty of the California movie lots.

The mistakes made by a previous administration in removing champions by edicts and threatening inactive titleholders with punishment that could not be carried out may have the last action of the commission on the Dempsey case look a little futile and absurd to the country at large.

It was a real penalty, however, and Dempsey will discover the kick in it when he gets ready to fight, if he ever intends to fight again. There are many reasons to believe that Dempsey never intends to defend the championship and that he will retire as soon as he is able to capitalize the limit on his reputation in the movies and on the stage.

There is a lot of talk going around about offers being made for Dempsey to fight in California, and other places, but that talk is all the good old bank that is being passed about by Jack Kearns, the manager of the heavyweight champion.

Jack Root, the former light heavyweight champion, who is now a substantial and wealthy resident of Los Angeles, said here last winter that California could not stake a heavyweight championship fight. Root is building a fine new fight club on the coast and he was asked if he intended to put Dempsey on in a championship fight. Every promoter announces when he is building a club that in his opening show Jack Dempsey will defend the heavyweight championship.

"No," Root said at the time, "I haven't anything in mind for Dempsey and I will not have. He wants too much money for any promoter to put up in California. We couldn't get enough in at the gate to pay Dempsey, and there are no Tom Gibbons running around since that Shelby affair."

COLLAPSES A SECOND TIME

Babe Ruth is Regarded as a Very Sick Man

New York, April 9—Babe Ruth collapsed for a second time today just as the train bringing him to a hospital here left Manhattan for the last step before reaching New York City.

Ruth had left his berth and gone into the dressing room of the train. Robert Boyd, baseball writer, reported that a few minutes later those travelling with Ruth went into the dressing room and found the Babe lying on the floor. His face was dark red—an epileptic color.

"Ruth is a mighty sick man," newspaper men who came from Asheville with him, reported.

Memphis—Joe Bush toyed with the Memphis club while his team mates, the St. Louis Browns, were pounding out a 13 to 12 victory. It was Bush's last mound appearance before opening of the season next week.

BREEZES FROM SOUTHERN CAMPS

Kansas City, Mo.—Grover Alexander has been selected to pitch against the Kansas City Blues this afternoon. The veteran will pitch in the opening game next week and wants to limber up for big league competition.

Evansville, Ind.—The White Sox are set for another go with the Three Eye League Evans this afternoon. Yesterday Charlie Robertson went the whole route and won from the locals 13 to 7. Robertson was out most of last season with an injured wing, but his flinging in yesterday's game showed that an operation has restored his throwing arm to normalcy.

New Orleans—The Indians will entrain for the north tonight with only three members on the casualty list as the result of spring training. Homer Summing and Bob Knobe have broken noses and Dutch Levens a lame arm.

ample. He is displeased with that pretense of religion just, "To be seen of men".

"Men should not take to themselves titles of honor which belong to God and Christ" the speaker continued. "Call no man Father on earth." Jesus taught that humility becomes a Christian; "He that is greatest among you shall be your servant." Jesus taught against exalting outward purity and appearance against inward sanctity. They were careful to make the outside of the cup and platter clean but inwardly were full of corruption. They were likened to sepulchres, whitened without but full of corruption. They venerated the prophets while their lives were like those who killed them.

"Other teachings of that day continue to have a great influence upon the world. Almost all people know the story of the widow giving the two mites and receiving the hearty approval of Jesus because she had given all she possessed while others gave of their abundance.

"The parable of the ten virgins is familiar. If we expect to enter in, we must be ready when the Bride comes. Religion is not something to be put on at death but for every day living. We need it now.

"In the parable of the talents he has taught a lesson for all time that we are to use the talents we possess to be entrusted with more."

Cottage Prayer Meetings

The cottage prayer meeting of the Main Street Christian church, will be held Thursday morning at the following homes:

Mrs. L. B. Downey, North Sexton street, Mrs. Myrta Matlock, leader.

Mrs. Warder Wyatt, East Third street, Mrs. Homer Cole, leader.

Mrs. H. V. Logan, North Perkins street, Rev. Mr. VanWinkle, leader.

Mrs. G. P. Mauzy, North Main Street, Mrs. Theo. Abernethy, Jr., leader.

Society Events

The Rebekah Lodge will meet Friday evening at eight o'clock at the Odd Fellows Hall in North Morgan street.

There will be a called meeting of officers of Martha Poe Chapter, No. 143, O. E. S. Friday evening. Everyone is urged to be present.

The choir of the St. Paul's M. E. church will meet at the church Friday evening for rehearsal and a good attendance is desired at this meeting.

Mrs. Cullen Sexton was a charming hostess Wednesday afternoon when she entertained the members of her Wednesday Afternoon Bridge club and two extra tables of guests with a bridge-ten, at her home in East Fifth street, honoring Mrs. Daniel Crandell Green, of Salt Lake City, Utah. After the bridge games the delicious luncheon was served. Mrs. Carl Beher presiding over the tea table and Mrs. Green serving the salad course.

The losing side in the contest, recently conducted by the Commercial Club of the local high school, proved themselves to be gracious hostesses Wednesday evening, when they entertained the winning side with a banquet at the home of Miss Beulah Phillips in this city. The club was divided in two different parts, when they gave the benefit moving picture show recently at the Castle theatre, and the side which sold the most tickets for the show, was to be entertained by the losers. The decorations for the banquet table were in keeping with the Easter spirit, pretty place cards marking the covers for the guests and the menu cards were adorned with yellow chickens. The color scheme of yellow and white predominated. After the serving of the banquet, an enjoyable social evening was spent by the guests.

Speeches were given by Mr. Puckett, commercial instructor, Ruth Weber and Helen Locke and the class prophecy written by Ruth Seward was read. Covers were laid for Margaret Ralston, Mary Hall, Florine Walton, Gladys Newman, Ruth Weber, Christina Behout, Edith Claire Waldon, Ruth Seward, Helen Minneman, Mildred Murphy, Helen Kirk, Marjory Crim, Helen Locke, Lois Brown and Beulah Phillips.

The Misses Elmyra Rush and Berenice Lamb, teachers of the Mays school, entertained for the mothers, at the school building Saturday afternoon, about forty being present. Miss Marcecie Glidden gave a group of readings, monologues and violin numbers, accompanied by Miss Nellie Kirkham. Miss Harriet Rawls gave an interesting talk on her trip to Japan. Miss Alice Piersol sang a group of songs, accompanied by Miss Rawles. After the program the guests were invited to another room, which was beautifully decorated with ferns and easter flowers. Bonquets of Easter flowers were used in the center of the tables. Small crepe paper fans in pastel shades were given as favors.

The Young Ladies Mission Circle of the St. Paul's M. E. church held their regular meeting Wednesday evening at the home of Miss Bessie Knotts in West Fifth street. A very interesting program was given, Mrs. Otto Bussard having charge of the devotional period, followed by a talk on "China," by Mrs. R. E. Jenkins. The talk was unusually interesting, due to the fact that Mrs. Jenkins has lived in China, and her personal experience with the work being done in that country, made her talk especially good. The pledge of offering which the members have given to the Woman's Home Missionary Society, reached $35.09 last night. A delicious luncheon was served by the hostess at the conclusion of the program.

The Music Study Club met Wednesday evening at the home of Mrs. C. E. Walden assisted by Mrs. Neff Ashworth. Mrs. Derby Green and Miss Irene Reardon discussed "Expression and Interpretation" in music. Miss Leona Harton played "Romance," by Wienianski; "Gavotte" by Haesche and "The Old Refrain" by Kriesler. She was accompanied by Mrs. Otto Moore. Miss Irene Reardon sang "Spring is Here," by Dick, and "Children of Men" by Russell, being accompanied by Mrs. George Hogsett. Mrs. Hogsett played "Scenes" from an "Imaginary Ballet" by Coleridge-Taylor. At the close of the program dainty refreshment were served.

er is said to have told him that he didn't want any trouble, and was making an attempt to reach his machine, when Walters is said to have followed him, persisting in his attempt to make the editor talk. The editor was walking backwards across the street, and was being pressed by Walters, when witnesses assert that Mercer pulled a 25 calibre automatic from his pocket and fired high, missing Walters. On his next step, Mercer, who was still walking backwards, is said to have stumbled, and fallen backwards.

At this instant, witnesses say that Walters jumped on top of him, and the second shot was fired, which struck him in the chest, cutting an artery near the heart, and the bullet lodged in his spine, which caused instant death.

Dr. Patton of Morristown was called, but the man was dead. Mercer walked into a hardware store and remained for the officers. This morning he was charged with manslaughter in the Shelby circuit court, and was released on $5,000 bond.

Walters is survived by the widow. He formerly lived in Kokomo and services will be held at the home in Morristown Friday morning at eleven o'clock, after which the body will be taken to Kokomo, for services and burial Saturday.

Walters was well known in this city, as he was here frequently on business, and many machine owners have patronized him at his garage in

JURY DECIDES GIRL MATRICIDE IS INSANE

Dorothy Ellingston, 17, of San Francisco, Will Escape Trial for Mother's Murder

WANTED TO FACE THE CHARGE

San Francisco, Calif., April 9—Dorothy Ellingston, seventeen year old matricide, is insane.

The jury which deliberated on the fate of the jazz girl, returned this verdict today after forty minutes deliberation.

After the jury foreman read the decision, Dorothy fainted and fell forward on the floor. As a result of the verdict the dance girl will escape trial for murder of her mother, Mrs. Anna Ellingston, last January.

The decision was not what Dorothy had fought for. She demanded that she be found sane and be permitted to face the murder charge.

Dorothy took the witness stand in behalf of the prosecution yesterday to defeat efforts of her attorneys to prove her insane.

When Judge McAttee described her as "an abnormal creature," the "jazz girl" became furious and attempted to attack her counsel in open court.

"You lie. Get out of my sight or I'll choke you," she said.

"The most over-rated thing in the world seems to be the bottle. Nephew. Some folks expect to find joy in it, and others look for health, but both are disappointed."

Twenty Adjustments Brought Health

"I was nervous, had poor circulation, no endurance and was generally run down. For at least twenty years I had trouble keeping my hands and feet warm. I was surprised to find after twenty adjustments that I could drive in cold weather without gloves. I have more pep, endurance, and am not nervous, as I was. I am convinced from the adjustments received that pinched nerves caused trouble or pain in the organs they lead to, and really think a couple of adjustments each month would keep one full of red blood all the time."—C. BETTER THAN CALOMEL

Thousands Have Discovered
Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets
are a Harmless Substitute

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets—the substitute for calomel—are a mild but sure laxative, and their effect on the liver is almost instantaneous. These little olive-colored tablets are the result of Dr. Edwards' determination not to treat liver and bowel complaints with calomel.

The pleasant little tablets do the good that calomel does, but have no bad after effects. They don't injure the teeth like strong liquids or calomel. They take hold of the trouble and quickly correct it. Why cure the liver at the expense of the teeth? Calomel sometimes plays havoc with the gums. So do strong liquids. It is best not to take calomel. Let Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets take its place.

Headaches, "dullness" and that lazy feeling come from constipation and a disordered liver. Take Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets when you feel "lousy" and "heavy." They "clear" clouded brain and "perk up" the spirits. 15c and 30c.

The Days of Frequent Car Buying are Passing

The public is learning after a quarter century of experience that true economy in personal transportation, as in other necessities, lies in buying the best at long intervals rather than less than the best at more frequent intervals.

Sixty per cent of the cars now being traded in on Packard Sixes are less than two years old—25% are less than one year old. But for these new Packard owners the days of frequent car buying are past.

Thousands of Packard Six owners are now well on their way toward the 100,000 mile mark—and with no loss of the original beauty, distinction and comfort of their cars. They have discovered true economy.

"STICK AND STUDY" IS ADVICE GIVEN BOYS IN THE CORN CLUB

Rush County Youngsters Numbering 110 Receive Corn to Plant Plot and Word of Encouragements

EACH ONE HAS SPONSOR

Rushville Boosters Club Lets Boys Know Wednesday Night Business Men Are With Them

REFRESHMENTS ARE SERVED

Boys and Their Dads Hear Short Talks by County Agent, Argus Wagoner and Others

"Stick and study."

This was the advice Argus Wagoner of Orange township, yellow corn king of Indiana, gave 110 boys of the Rush County Boys' Corn Club, at the court house Wednesday night, when fifteen pounds of corn was distributed to each boy for planting his acre of corn, which will be the basis of the club contest.

"Go to it and we are for you."

In so many words, was the composite bit of encouragement the boys received from their sponsors, Rushville business men who were present for the distribution and "get acquainted" session.

Each boy got acquainted with the man who had been selected to act as his sponsor for the club work and who will watch the development of his club work and keep in touch with him until the next county corn show.

Donald D. Ball presided and short talks were made by Herschel VanMatre, county agricultural agent; Omer Trusler, former president of the Rushville Boosters Club; Argus Wagoner, Rush county corn king and winner of the sweepstakes on yellow corn in the state; John A. Tittsworth and Fred Bell, president of the Rush County Farm Bureau.

Refreshments of sandwiches, brick ice cream, cake and coffee were served during the evening for the boys, their dads and members of the Boosters Club. The program was held in the assembly room, at the conclusion of which the corn was distributed and a flashlight picture was taken of the group.

The program opened with the singing of two verses of "America" and Mr. Ball commented on the purpose of the meeting, saying that "This is as fine a looking bunch of boys as I ever saw." He said the club had some fine seed corn to distribute, but that it did not compare with the

Real Inspiration

Rush county boys "shoot" high. This was demonstrated by the remark of a member of the boys' corn club, last night, who was being "joshed" by his Rushville business man sponsor about winning corn prizes. "You watch me," said this youngster, who happened to be from Washington township, in the best and most modern parlance. "I'll knock 'em in Chicago and then I'll knock 'em in London."

fine corn king seed which was there. The county agent outlined the corn club plan and its possibilities. "We have been working on this project since last September," he said "and it is certainly gratifying to see such a fine group of boys."

He asked boys who wished they lived south of Andersonville to hold up their hands. None responded and he asked all who wished they lived north of Rush county to hold up their hands.

"I know none of you would want to live where they grew corn only eight inches tall," the county agent continued. "You boys are satisfied and that shows the location is all right. The seed is all right and the citizens of Rush county are all right; so everything is all right."

Mr. VanMatre asked how many boys has selected the location of their plot and the response was 100 per cent. He asked how many had given the plot a good application of barn yard manure and many held up their hands.

"You and your dad know better than anyone else whether you should apply a sack of commercial fertilizer," he continued. "Half of the cultivating can be done before the corn is planted. Get dad to give you plot an extra touch by disking it a second time if necessary. Have dad test out the planter before he drives on to your plot so that he will have the right plates in the planter."

"If your ground is strong enough, perhaps a few of you boys will be interested in pulling the plants together. This will get you a larger yield, but will interfere with wheat sowing next fall."

Mr. VanMatre emphasized the necessity of club members keeping their record books neat and clean as their appearance counts in a show. He urged the use of another book in making notes and use the record book only for making the final record.

"If your plot is located in a large field," he added, "keep account of all time spent in plowing, disking, planting and cultivating, and divide by number of acres in field to get data for your record book. It is easy to keep if you keep it up to date."

Mr. VanMatre showed the possibilities of the club work by calling attention to the fact that members can compete in the National Hay and Grain show in Chicago, Nov. 30, Dec. 1, 2, 3, 4, and 5; the Rush County Corn show Dec. 15, 16 and 17 in Rushville; the Indiana state corn show at Lafayette, Jan. 11, 12, 13 and 14 and the Indiana state fair show in September, 1926.

INDICTMENT FOR MURDER LOOMS UP

Will Result, Prosecution Says, if Miss Madge Oberholzer, Victim of Attack, Dies

NO HOPE OF HER RECOVERY

D. C. Stephenson Remains in Seclusion as Attorney Prepares for Court Battle Saturday

(By United Press)

Indianapolis, Ind., April 9—Re-indictment of D. C. Stephenson, former grand dragon of the Ku Klux Klan of Indiana, on a charge of murder in the event of death of Miss Madge Oberholzer, assault victim, loomed today.

If justice takes its usual course, Stephenson will be reindicted on a charge of murder if Miss Oberholzer dies, Charles Fox, former supreme court justice, assisting the prosecutor in the case, declared.

It is understood the murder indictment would be brought on the ground that Stephenson had become a party to the girl's death, after refusing medical attention, after the girl took poison at Hammond, Indiana.

Miss Oberholzer has been in an unconscious condition for nine days from the effects of bichloride of mercury, taken in an attempt at suicide.

There was no change in her condition today and doctors have given up all hopes for her recovery.

Stephenson is already under indictment charged with kidnapping and assaulting the young woman.

Dr. John Kingsbury, her physician, said the girl cannot survive although she may live for several days yet.

Specialists held another consultation and found that the critical stage in her illness was nearing.

Stephenson remained in seclusion while Eph Inman, his attorney, prepared arguments which will be made in criminal court Saturday in an attempt to secure dismissal of the indictments charging Stephenson with abducting and assaulting the girl.

The room in which Miss Oberholzer lay in an unconscious condition at the home of her father, George Oberholzer, in Irvington was banked with flowers today.

Neighbors sent in the flowers as a tribute to Miss Oberholzer, who was known as one of the most popular girls in Irvington.

KIWANIANS GIVE TO MABRA RELIEF FUND

Raise Sum at Weekly Meeting, Which is Addressed by the Rev. Eldon VanWinkle

GREENFIELD KIWANIANS HERE

The Rev. Eldon VanWinkle of Pittsburg, former Rush county boy who is conducting pre-Easter services at the Main Street Christian church this week, spoke to the Kiwanis club today noon at the regular weekly luncheon at the Odd Fellows Temple.

A collection was taken among the members of the club for Tillie Mabra, well known colored woman who is in need as the result of a fire a few days ago, which destroyed all of her household goods. A fund is being raised to provide her with another home. The Kiwanians raised $36.30 for the aged colored woman.

Five members of the Greenfield Kiwanis club were here as club guests boosting the annual revue put on by the club, "The Brandywine Follies," which will be presented April 23 and 24. The last night will be Kiwanis night and local Kiwanians are expecting to attend. In the visiting delegation were Ed Williams, president of the club, E. V. Toms, H. B. Barr, Frank Guthrie and H. J. Rhue.

Other guests present were Judge Will M. Sparks, John A. Tittsworth and Link Gary, all of this city. Judge Remy of the Indiana appellate court will address the club next week.

LUNCHEON SESSION IS HELD

Routine Business Occupies Attention During Morning, Annual Reports Being Given

The convention of the Rush County Federation of Women's clubs opened this morning at the First Presbyterian church with a good attendance, most of the clubs of the county being represented by one or two delegates. The program opened at 9:30 o'clock and continued throughout the day.

The morning session consisted mostly of routine work, the registration of delegates, reading the collect and the invocation by Mrs. Cora Saxon of Falmouth. The secretary also gave a report of the work during the year and a report of the clubs in the county.

Short talks were given also by different members as follows: "American Citizenship and Junior Membership," Mrs. Louis Lambert; "Better Homes," Mrs. John Jordan; "History," Mrs. Edna J. Coffin; "Memorial Trees," Mrs. C. H. Smullen; "Public Welfare," Mrs. Robert Ray; "Literature," Mrs. Harold Pearce; "Publicity," Mrs. Curt Hester.

At the noon hour an elaborate banquet was served in the basement of the church and beautiful bouquets of flowers formed the decorations for the banquet tables. During the dinner hour a delightful musical program was given, consisting of solos by Mrs. Alva Aikin, Mrs. Neff Ashworth and Mrs. Alfred Norris. Phyllis Ann Baker and Miss Mary Kitchen favored the guests with readings and Mrs. Russell Harton gave a violin solo. Prof. D. S. McIntosh, supervisor of music in the local schools, was present at this time and conducted a community sing.

The afternoon's program was devoted to a devotional hour followed by a talk by Mrs. Rumppler of Indianapolis, past president of the Federated clubs of the state. A business hour will conclude the convention.

MEETINGS PART OF NATIONAL CAMPAIGN

Disciples of Christ Trying for 100,000 Converts by Easter, Evangelist Announces

EFFORTS POINT TO EASTER

Meaning of Passover Meal and the Lord's Supper to be Explained at 1st Presbyterian Church

Pre Easter meetings continue to hold interest, with special services being held each night at the Main Street Christian and First Presbyterian churches, to culminate with a great day Sunday. Easter Sunday will be red letter day in all churches, most of the programs to begin with sunrise prayer meeting.

The meetings at the Christian church, being conducted by the Rev. Eldon K. VanWinkle, are a part of the Disciples of Christ "Each-one-win-one" Easter evangelist campaign which is being carried along on a national basis with a goal of 100,000 converted by Easter Sunday. This in turn is part of a five-year campaign for one million conversions.

The Rushville church, it was pointed out today, will rejoice to have a worthy part in this movement, and the meetings night after night, and the quiet, persistent work going on and the daily prayer meeting, all speak for a great day Easter.

A great rally attendance at Bible school is expected. A splendid program, missionary, evangelistic and devotional, has been arranged for the 6:30 Sunrise meetings. The gospel invitation for decisions and confessions, will be extended in every service during the day.

Everything will be in readiness for Easter Baptisms of all who come. The Rev. Mr. VanWinkle and the Main Street Christian church are inviting all members of the Christian church, who hold memberships "back home" in other cities to come Easter Sunday and take membership with the local congregation.

The Rev. Mr. VanWinkle preached last night on "That Treacherous Night," the night of the last supper. The scripture statement, John 13:30 "He (Julius Icarion), having received the sop went out straightway: and it was night," was the theme.

The evangelist spoke of the awful black night of devilish design and passion inside the mind and conscience of the traitor. He said, "Such a night was not sudden, in a moment of time men do not mature dark deeds. That fall from purity, that act of embezzlement, that awful crime we read of, does not come suddenly. The roots of moral delinquency reach far back in early thoughts and wanderings of the human heart. So with Judas, he was treasurer, held the bag, became covetous, misappropriated funds, was a thief."

"One day in a beautiful social evening at the home of Lazarus, Martha and Mary, the devoted Mary took a pound of ointment, very precious and anointed the feet of Jesus." The covetous heart of Judas grew indignant. That soul, utterly out of harmony with the finer spirit that moved Mary, said "why was not this ointment sold for three hundred shillings, and given to the poor?" The comment of the historian is significant. "This," he said, "not because he cared for the poor but because he was a thief and having the bag."

MORRISTOWN EDITOR GIVES BOND; FREED

C. S. Mercer, 54, at Liberty Following Slaying of Richard Walters, 40, Garageman

RESULT OF AN OLD DISPUTE

Walter Attempts to Obtain Retraction of Unfavorable Criticism as Fire Chief

WAS DENIED BY THE EDITOR

Meeting at Postoffice And Pressing by Walters of His Demands Leads to Fatal Shooting

Richard Walters, 40, better known as "Sudden Service Dick," garage owner of Morristown, was shot and killed instantly Wednesday evening at 6:30 o'clock by C. S. Mercer, 54, editor and owner of the Morristown Sun, and Mercer is at liberty on bond, charged with manslaughter.

The shooting terminated a controversy between the two, in which Walters is said to have taken exception to criticisms published in the newspaper, when he was in charge of the volunteer fire department.

The Shelby county grand jury today was called to meet next Monday to investigate the shooting of Walters.

On advice of his attorneys, Mercer refused to discuss further details of the shooting.

It is indicated that Mercer will defend himself on a plea that he shot in self defense.

One day last week, Walters, acting as fire chief, turned in a false alarm in order to test the equipment and train the men. The new fire truck was purchased a year ago, and Walters was given the custody of it in his garage, and he was likewise appointed chief for the first year, without any salary.

After the test run was made last week, the editor of the weekly newspaper is said to have printed comments concerning the affair, to which Walters took exception. Last Friday, after the article had been published, Walters is said to have entered the office of the publisher, taken hold of him and threatened him unless he consented to retract the article.

According to the report, Mercer refused the demand. The two men met again last night at the postoffice, and Walters is said to have made an attempt to get Mercer to talk about the retraction, but Mercer

RUSHVILLE MAN IS WOUNDED IN HOLOUP

Stanley Kemp, Spending Winter in Texarkana, Texas, Resists Highway Robbers

NATURE OF WOUNDS UNKNOWN

Stanley Kemp, 342 West Third street, who is spending several months at Texarkana, Tex., is in a hospital suffering from a gun shot wound inflicted by hold-up men, according to word received here by his sister, Miss Ella Kemp.

The seriousness of the wound has not been learned. Mr. and Mrs. Kemp left here in December to spend the winter and spring. He has been employed at a filling station in that city and on Monday afternoon was riding in the country adjacent to the city, when he was held up and robbed. After resisting, he was shot, and then robbed.

When found by the roadside, he was unconscious and was removed to a government hospital in that vicinity. As the city is located on the Texas and Arkansas state line, it was not learned, in what state the shooting happened.

It was reported in this city that the shot proved fatal, but no word to that effect has been received by Miss Kemp, and it is presumed that his condition is encouraging or she would have been notified to the contrary.

took away what was put therein.

The Rev. Mr. VanWinkle continued, "The delicate yet loving rebuke the Saviour administered, when he said 'suffer her to keep it against the day of my burying,' must have tended to discover to Judas, his traitorous thoughts and caused him to smart as one whose designs were discovered. For at that other and last supper it is narrated that the traitorous suggestions of Satan had already entered the heart of Judas. At the point of John's question the Lord revealed to His disciples that it was Judas who would betray Him. Then as now christianity was to be attacked from within the house of her friends. Upon receiving the sop, Judas, under the grip of his Satanic purpose, arose instantly and left while the chistorian adds, 'It was night.' The Rev. Mr. VanWinkle spoke of the terrible nights in Judas' soul—his desperate haste to betray Him to His enemies whom he knew had been seeking the life of his Lord. How with devilish haste, he cheapened the life of Christ, and bargained to betray Him for thirty pieces of silver.

Then conscience had her awful stormy claims, regret, remorse, anguish, the darkness of despair sunk its victim into suicide.

It was the black night of hopeless gloom into which careless sinners gradually enter, who turn away from the Lord, he said. The evangelist then spoke of that night that closed the day of the Saviour's earthly ministry—the night of Gethsemane. Ye the night which contained the fore-gleams of resurrection joy, in the giving of the new commandment of love; the instillation of the Lord's supper; the promises of prayer and the Holy spirit; of obedience and fellowship of love; of rich life-fruitage of guidance into all truth; of peace in a world that persecuted them; or comfort under trials; of union in evangelizing the world; of the second coming of Christ to take believers to Himself. All these hopes to be made good by the Risen Lord.

First Presbyterian

Tonight at the First Presbyterian church the pastor, the Rev. Gibson Wilson, will explain the meaning of Passover Meal and the Lord's supper. This event has a large meaning in the history of the Christian church throughout the world. Sometimes these days are called His Last Week and sometimes Passion Week because of his great passion or suffering, especially on Thursday and Friday.

There being no record of events of Wednesday in this last week in Jesus' life, the speaker studied a part of the teaching of Tuesday, giving particular attention to Chapters 23 to 25 in Matthew's Gospel. The word "Woe", said the minister, expresses the great displeasure to Jesus with the religious leaders of that day. Their office is to be respected but not their ex-

It is no trick to build a car that will go 65 or 70 miles an hour if it has a power plant big enough to haul a freight train.

It's a great achievement to get over 70 miles an hour out of a motor of 3-inch bore and 4 1/4-inch stroke, with gasoline mileage safely above 20 miles per gallon.

And that's the wonder of the Chrysler Six—a wonder so different and so superior that Chrysler was forced to build over 32,000 cars to meet the first-year demand.

Of course you don't want to drive your Chrysler over 70 miles an hour. In fact you may never go that fast. But there is something you do want that only a speed-ability of 70 miles can give.

That something is sure, steady power for steepest hill or deepest sand, a pick-up to flash you out of a traffic tangle, sturdy, dogged pull so you can throttle to five, even two miles an hour, on high without "bucking."

That's Chrysler performance in a nutshell. You surely must drive the car. It's the only way you can fully appreciate that it is the best built car you ever rode in. We are always eager to demonstrate the Chrysler.

"Stick and Study" is Advice Given Boys in County Corn Club

raised this year to the Rush county show next winter. Enough will be selected to supply next year's club with seed and the remainder will be auctioned off to help pay prizes for the corn club show.

"The man who is not inoculated with the spirit and enthusiasm of youth," said Mr. Trusler in opening his short talk, "well, there is something wrong with him."

He commented on the work of individuals who had made the corn club possible—a single man conceiving it and a single man furnishing the corn.

"It is more important," he declared, "what boys think of a man than what a man thinks of boys. We want the boys to know that we are going to back them to the limit and give them all of the encouragement possible, and we want the respect of the boys."

"We are making history for Rush county tonight. We are going to visit the boys this summer and we want the boys to understand it is the boys we are coming to see. We may drop in at meal time, but that will make no difference. The thing is that we all want to truly believe in the boys and show them we do."

Mr. Wagoner urged the boys not to grow discouraged by setbacks but to study the problems as they arose and stick to the job. He reviewed the things that might happen to discourage a boy, adding "The wind may lay it flat and the weeds we have with us always."

Mr. Wagoner very modestly related his career as a corn grower, recalling that he first became interested 21 years ago. He first exhibited in the state show in 1901, and won third place, and the next time he showed, won sixth.

"I saw that would not do, because I was going backwards," Mr. Wagoner continued, "and I stopped for thirteen years and studied the corn. After that, I went back and won first in my section, all of which shows that it pays to stick."

Mr. Wagoner advised the study of photographs of champion ears to get an idea of the type, as the next best thing after having the ear itself for study.

"Study the corn plant all the way through and figure out things as they develop," he urged. "Think and stick and let the other boys know they have been in a horse race."

In closing, he said it was an old saying that there is a bag of gold at the end of the rainbow, but he advised boys to follow their rainbow to the corn field back of the barn and see if it wasn't right there.

Mr. Tittsworth, in discussing the ethics and morals of the corn club, said that there were many things entitling corn to be called king. He declared the corn plant to be the most beautiful in the world, and that corn is a most interesting product.

"L. M. Fogler, former corn king, once said," the speaker continued, "it was the most fascinating study because no two ears in the world are alike. We know no two people are alike, but we never imagined corn had individuality such as this."

Mr. Tittsworth commented on the way experts know corn—how the judge at the Rush county show recognized an ear he judged a year previously at another show.

"But we are more interested in the crop of boys than we are in the corn crop," he added. "It would be an awful thing to raise a fine corn crop and not a fine crop of boys. Some older people think we can't raise as good boys as once were raised, but we can. Most boys are just misguided, not bad."

Mr. Tittsworth expressed the view that most men are honest and pointed out that two basic elements of character entered into the corn club work—honesty and truthfulness. Honesty is a good policy, but a poor one to go by, he said, pointing out as a better one—"An honest man is the noblest work of God." The worst punishment a wrongdoer can have, he pointed out, is his own conscience.

Mr. Tittsworth commented on his experience with Mr. Wagoner, showing his corn had won because it was "honest corn."

"You boys have the best corn in the state," he added, "and I appeal to you boys to put as much conscientious effort into your corn crop and all other crops as Argus Wagoner has and you will go a long way."

"A boy's highest ambition is to be a fine man. His father is most likely to be his ideal. It is up to the fathers to set the right kind of example."

In closing, Mr. Tittsworth spoke of the problem of boys leaving the farm and said interesting them in farm work was the best solution of this difficulty.

Mr. Bell spoke for a few minutes regarding the development of seed corn testing in the county in three years and recounted what was being done in Johnson county with a central plat and nine men busy during the season.

"If we are going to go forward as we should," he asserted, "we must provide a place to test seed."

The Boys Corn Club

The Rush County Boys' Corn Club, which got under way with the distribution of state championship corn Wednesday night, is the most constructive step ever taken in Rush county for the betterment of agriculture and the county as a whole.

The fine spirit and enthusiasm which the boys and their dads displayed toward the project warmed the hearts of members of the Rushville Boosters' club who have worked diligently to organize the club.

Interesting the boys of Rush county in growing better crops and giving them something to work for will benefit every interest in Rush county. It will give them a new sense, a new appreciation of the dignity of the calling in which their fathers are engaged and which they are training to take up when they reach maturity.

The contact that Rushville business men will gain through the corn club, with the coming farmers of Rush county, will do the business men good in teaching them the farmers' problems.

An certainly every Rush county boy is going to strive harder to be a winner if he knows a man is watching him and is rooting for him all the time to win.

The Same Old Delusion

Taxpayers who have dreams of lower taxes through smaller valuations are due for a jolt when it comes time to pay the taxes because taxes do not depend on arbitrary values placed on physical property by appraisement.

The old delusion will never wear off. So many property owners still cling to it as the panacea for all of their taxation ailments.

The amount of taxes levied is dependent entirely upon the amount of money required to run the government, local, township, county, state and federal.

As long as our present system of taxation prevails, government expenses will be the measure of taxes needed.

If valuations decline, as the result of new appraisements, expenses remaining the same, the tax rate will be higher. If valuations are increased, the tax rate will be lower, but the amount assessed will be unchanged if the expense of government does not vary.

This is a law that can't be escaped. No end of slicing down taxation values will change it.

The only way to reduce taxes is to reduce government expenditures. This is a fact that every taxpayer should remember instead of building up false hopes when new appraisements are made.

Hunt's Washington Letter

BY HARRY B. HUNT

NEA Service Writer

WASHINGTON—Japan's recent treaty with Russia doesn't mean that Nippon is conspiring with the Soviet government to dominate the Pacific. It only means that Japan wants to eat.

At least that's the explanation given by Frederick Moore, counsellor to the Japanese foreign office, now in Washington.

"Japanese eat about one pound of meat per person per year," says Moore. "But they eat one pound of fish per person per year."

"The big sources of Japan's fish supply are the waters off Sakhalin Island and the Behring Sea. These are Russian waters. An understanding between Japan and Russia, covering the scope to be allowed Japanese fishermen in these areas, in order to guarantee a fish supply for Japan, was the compelling motive behind the Japanese end of the agreement."

"Friendly relations between Japan and Russia also means a closer relationship between Japan and Europe. By sea, the trip from Japan to France and England, for instance, is about six weeks. By the Siberian Railway, this is cut to about two weeks."

"But as foreshadowing a Japanese-Russian alliance designed to dominate the Pacific—Japan herself would be the last to wish the development of Russia as a maritime power. Anyone can see why."

THIS man, Moore, incidentally, is a unique figure in official and diplomatic circles.

An American by birth, citizenship and allegiance, he is at the same time an official of the Japanese government in a sort of super-diplomatic job.

His title is "counsellor to the Japanese foreign office." His duties, as his title indicates, are advisory. He is expected to keep the Japanese viewpoint straight on things American with the idea of always upholding the "promoting amicable relations between Japan and the United States."

Moore graduated into his job

after a score of years as a newspaper correspondent, stationed in the Far East. His many years in China and Japan for the Associated Press gave him an understanding of the oriental slant on affairs in general that can only be acquired by long and intimate association. His knack as a newspaper man enabled him to see both sides of the problems that arose to bother Japan, for instance, and he acquired the habit of voicing suggestions. He brought to the Japanese foreign office, unofficially, the white man's psychology, backed up by a newspaper man's undiplomatic but very understandable mode of expression. He could strip a State Department communication of its high-sounding and ambiguous phrases, and tell the Japanese just what Uncle Sam meant and why he meant it.

And the Japanese elder statesmen, recognizing though not publicly admitting that Japan is still a youngster among civilized nations, profited no little by his advice.

It was Baron Shidehara, former Japanese ambassador to Washington, now head of Japan's foreign office, who signed Moore up for his job of undiplomatic diplomat. The fifth yearly contract has just been signed. Which would seem to indicate that Moore has been giving satisfaction as well as advice.

Moore alternates between Japan and the United States, first a year here, then a year there, in order to keep his contacts in both countries fresh. The United States is still "home" to him, however, and he's educating his children in the U. S. A.

Moore and Baron Matsudaira, the new Japanese ambassador, present the long and short of diplomacy in Washington.

Moore is tall, lanky—a human lath. Matsudaira is short, roly-poly. They make an odd team. Both admit the same pet aversion, however—the jingo who is always trying to stir hostilities between U. S. and Nippon.

Several people rushed to Lieut. Governor Frank J. Hall's side yesterday afternoon when they saw him lying at the foot of the stairs leading to his office in Main Street. He, however, arose before anyone could assist him and explained that he was not injured.

The Degree of Pochontas here will meet tonight to make arrangements for a district meeting of the order to be held in this city on the afternoon and night of Tuesday, May 10, says the Columbus Republican.

Late this afternoon the petition of Joseph Eskey, et al., for the drainage of Flatrock was filed through the law firm of Sexton and McCollin, in Rush circuit court.

The enumerators who have been appointed to take the census in this county are making final preparations to begin work next Friday, April 15.

The Round Dozen Club was entertained at the home of Mrs. John Lubbe in North Sexton street yesterday afternoon. A two-course luncheon was served.

U. G. Beaver returned today from Tennessee and Kentucky where he bought 2,000 head of Shropshire and southdown breeding ewes. Two car loads of the ewes arrived today.

Joe Geraghty, son of Mr. and Mrs. James Geraghty of Indianapolis, is the guest of Mr. and Mrs. Joe Demmer and family.

The Misses Jessie Carter and Ruth Aldridge will spend Sunday in Connersville the guest of friends.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Newhouse and Miss Dicia Trobaugh saw "The Time, Place and the Girl" at the auditorium in Connersville last night.

Mrs. Ora Wilson of Lexington, Ky., is here on account of the death of her niece, Frances Nelle, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Will Frazer.

Several local people claim that they saw the comet early this morning. They describe it as looking like a star with a long tail and say that it moves slowly in the eastern horizon.

Miss Carrie Scott returned to Indianapolis today after spending a few days here this week, classifying the books donated to the local chapter of the D. A. R. for a reading room.

It took only one ballot to elect four directors of the Rushville Co-operative Telephone company last night at the annual meeting of the stockholders held in the court house. The new directors are J. M. Amos, John D. Megee, W. A. Jones and Ben L. McFarlan.

Florence Vidor at Princess

The costumes worn by Miss Florence Vidor, who plays the title role in "Christine of the Hungry Heart," Thomas H. Ince's new First National production now at the Princess theater, will bring envy to every feminine heart.

The first scenes in "Christine" show Miss Vidor as a radiant bride, in a most wonderful creation. Each successive scene finds her in more and more wonderful costumes.

Miss Vidor is a lover of laces, and is the owner of a very fine collection of antique laces including shawls and mantillas. One of this latter is worn in the fancy dress ball scenes in "Christine."

Miss Vidor is particularly fond of chintilly and rose point and her screen frocks, whenever permissible, reflect her love of lace.

"Our Hospitality," Castle

A detailed enumeration of all the severities faced by Buster Keaton, the Metro star, and his forces in making his latest Joseph M. Schenck comedy, "Our Hospitality," being shown at the Castle theatre would call to mind the ordeal of Washington and his men at Valley Forge.

Buster had a railroad train constructed, a facsimile of the first engine ever built, "The Rocket." The trip on the screen runs off smoothly enough. Film fans, however, will see nothing of the times Buster had to alight from his coach and help his staff put the engine back on the track.

"Our Hospitality," Buster's second feature-length comedy, is a travesty on American life in the early 1830s.

Dempsey's Row

By HENRY L. FARRELL
(United Press Sports Editor)

New York, April 9—Jack Dempsey has a laugh and there may have been chuckles all over the country when the New York Boxing commission placed him on the ineligible list for refusing to accept the challenge of Harry Wills.

Perhaps Dempsey doesn't care what the New York commission does to him or about him and it might be that he welcomed the sentence as it gave him a good excuse to keep promoters away from him and allowed him the liberty of the California movie lots.

The mistakes made by a previous administration in removing champions by edicts and threatening indictive titleholders with punishment that could not be carried out may have the last action of the commission on the Dempsey case look a little futile and absurd to the country at large.

It was a real penalty, however, and Dempsey will discover the kick in it when he gets ready to fight, if he ever intends to fight again. There are many reasons to believe that Dempsey never intends to defend the championship and that he will retire as soon as he is able to capitalize the limit on his reputation in the movies and on the stage.

There is a lot of talk going around about offers being made for Dempsey to fight in California and other places, but that talk is all the good old bunk that is being passed about by Jack Kearns, the manager of the heavyweight champion.

Jack Root, the former light heavyweight champion, who is now a substantial and wealthy resident of Los Angeles, said here last winter that California could not stake a heavyweight championship fight. Root is building a fine new fight club on the coast and he was asked if he intended to put Dempsey on in a championship fight. Every promoter announces when he is building a club that in his opening show Jack Dempsey will defend the heavyweight championship.

"No," Root said at the time, "I haven't anything in mind for Dempsey and I will not have. He wants too much money for any promoter to put up in California. We couldn't get enough in at the gate to pay Dempsey, and there are no Tom Gibbonses running around since that Shelby affair."

COLLAPSES A SECOND TIME

Babe Ruth is Regarded as a Very Sick Man

New York, April 9—Babe Ruth collapsed for a second time today just as the train bringing him to a hospital here left Manhattan for the last step before reaching New York City.

Ruth had left his berth and gone into the dressing room of the train. Robert Boyd, baseball writer, reported that a few minutes later those travelling with Ruth went into the dressing room and found the Babe lying on the floor. His face was dark red—an epileptic color. "Ruth is a mighty sick man," newspaper men who came from Asheville with him, reported.

Memphis—Joe Bush toyed with the Memphis club while his team mates, the St. Louis Browns, were pounding out a 13 to 12 victory. It was Bush's last mound appearance before opening of the season next week.

BREEZES FROM SOUTHERN CAMPS

Kansas City, Mo.—Grover Alexander has been selected to pitch against the Kansas City Blues this afternoon. The veteran will pitch in the opening game next week and wants to hammer up for big league competition.

Evansville, Ind.—The White Sox are set for another go with the Three Eye League Evans this afternoon. Yesterday Charlie Robertson went the whole route and won from the locals 13 to 7. Robertson was out most of last season with an injured wing, but his flinging in yesterday's game showed that an operation has restored his throwing arm to normalcy.

New Orleans—The Indians will entrain for the north tonight with only three members on the casualty list as the result of spring training. Homer Summa and Bob Knobe have broken noses and Dutch Levensen a lame arm.

ample. He is displeased with that pretense of religion just, "To be seen of men."

"Men should not take to themselves titles of honor which belong to God and Christ," the speaker continued. "Call no man Father on earth." Jesus taught that humility becomes a Christian; "He that is greatest among you shall be your servant." Jesus taught against exalting outward purity and appearance against inward sanctity. They were careful to make the outside of the cup and platter clean but inwardly were full of corruption. They were likened to sepulchres, whitened without but full of corruption. They venerated the prophets while their lives were like those who killed them.

"Other teachings of that day continue to have a great influence upon the world. Almost all people know the story of the widow giving the two mites and receiving the hearty approval of Jesus because she had given all she possessed while others gave of their abundance.

"The parable of the ten virgins is familiar. If we expect to enter in, we must be ready when the Bride comes. Religion is not something to be put on at death but for every day living. We need it now.

In the parable of the talents he has taught a lesson for all time that we are to use the talents we possess to be entrusted with more."

The Rebekah Lodge will meet Friday evening at eight o'clock at the Odd Fellows Hall in North Morgan street.

There will be a called meeting of officers of Martha Poe Chapter, No. 143, O. E. S. Friday evening. Everyone is urged to be present.

The choir of the St. Paul's M. E. church will meet at the church Friday evening for rehearsal and a good attendance is desired at this meeting.

Mrs. Cullen Sexton was a charming hostess Wednesday afternoon when she entertained the members of her Wednesday Afternoon Bridge club and two extra tables of guests with a bridge-tee, at her home in East Fifth street, honoring Mrs. Daniel Crandell Green, of Salt Lake City, Utah. After the bridge games the delicious luncheon was served. Mrs. Carl Behr presiding over the tea table and Mrs. Green serving the salad course.

The losing side in the contest, recently conducted by the Commercial Club of the local high school, proved themselves to be gracious hostesses Wednesday evening, when they entertained the winning side with a banquet at the home of Miss Beulah Phillips in this city. The club was divided in two different parts, when they gave the benefit moving picture show recently at the Castle theatre, and the side which sold the most tickets for the show, was to be entertained by the losers. The decorations for the banquet were in keeping with the Easter spirit, pretty place cards marking the covers for the guests and the menu cards were adorned with yellow chickens. The color scheme of yellow and white predominated. After the serving of the banquet, an enjoyable social evening was spent by the guests.

Speeches were given by Mr. Puckett, commercial instructor, Ruth Weber and Helen Locke and the class prophecy written by Ruth Seward was read. Covers were laid for Margaret Ralston, Mary Hall, Florine Walton, Gladys Newman, Ruth Weber, Christina Belmont, Edith Claire Waddell, Ruth Seward, Helen Minneman, Mildred Murphy, Helen Kirk, Marjory Crim, Helen Locke, Lois Brown and Beulah Phillips.

The Misses Elnora Rush and Berenice Lamb, teachers of the Mays school, entertained for the mothers, at the school building Saturday afternoon, about forty being present. Miss Marecie Glidden gave a group of readings, monologues and violin numbers, accompanied by Miss Nellie Kirkham. Miss Harriet Rawls gave an interesting talk on her trip to Japan. Miss Alice Piersel sang a group of songs, accompanied by Miss Rawls. After the program the guests were invited to another room, which was beautifully decorated with ferns and easter flowers. Bouquets of Easter flowers were used in the center of the tables. Small crepe paper fans in pastel shades were given as favors.

The Young Ladies Mission Circle of the St. Paul's M. E. church held their regular meeting Wednesday evening at the home of Miss Bessie Knotts in West Fifth street. A very interesting program was given, Mrs. Otto Bussard having charge of the devotional period, followed by a talk on "China," by Mrs. R. E. Jenkins. The talk was unusually interesting, due to the fact that Mrs. Jenkins has lived in China, and her personal experience with the work being done in that country, made her talk especially good. The pledge offering which the members have given to the Woman's Home Missionary Society, reached $35.00 last night. A delicious luncheon was served by the hostess at the conclusion of the program.

The Music Study Club met Wednesday evening at the home of Mrs. C. E. Walden assisted by Mrs. Nell Ashworth. Mrs. Derby Green and Miss Irene Reardon discussed "Expression and Interpretation" in music. Miss Leona Harton played "Romanesque," by Wieniawski; "Gavotte" by Haesche and "The Old Refrain" by Kriesler. She was accompanied by Mrs. Otto Moore. Miss Irene Reardon sang "Spring is Here," by Dick, and "Children of Men" by Russell, being accompanied by Mrs. George Hogsett. Mrs. Hogsett played "Scenes" from an "Imaginary Ballet" by Coleridge-Taylor. At the close of the program dainty refreshment were served.

er is said to have told him that he didn't want any trouble, and was making an attempt to reach his machine, when Walters is said to have followed him, persisting in his attempt to make the editor talk. The editor was walking backwards, across the street, and was being pressed by Walters, when witnesses assert that Mercer pulled a 25 calibre automatic from his pocket and fired high, missing Walters. On his next step, Mercer, who was still walking backwards, is said to have stumbled, and fallen backwards.

At this instant, witnesses say that Walters jumped on top of him, and the second shot was fired, which struck him in the chest, cutting an artery near the heart, and the bullet lodged in his spine, which caused instant death.

Dr. Patton of Morristown was called, but the man was dead. Mercer walked into a hardware store and remained for the officers. This morning he was charged with manslaughter in the Shelby circuit court, and was released on $5,000 bond.

Walters is survived by the widow. He formerly lived in Kokomo and services will be held at the home in Morristown Friday morning at eleven o'clock, after which the body will be taken to Kokomo, for services and burial Saturday.

Walters was well known in this city, as he was here frequently on business, and many machine owners have patronized him at his garage in

JURY DECIDES GIRL MATRICIDE IS INSANE

Dorothy Ellington, 17, of San Francisco, Will Escape Trial for Mother's Murder

WANTED TO FACE THE CHARGE

San Francisco, Calif., April 9—Dorothy Ellington, seventeen year old matricide, is insane.

The jury which deliberated on the fate of the jazz girl, returned this verdict today after forty minutes deliberation.

After the jury foreman read the decision, Dorothy fainted and fell forward on the floor. As a result of the verdict the dance girl will escape trial for murder of her mother, Mrs. Anna Ellington, last January.

The decision was not what Dorothy had fought for. She demanded that she be found sane and be permitted to face the murder charge.

Dorothy took the witness stand in behalf of the prosecution yesterday to defeat efforts of her attorneys to prove her insane.

When Judge McAtee described her as "an abnormal creature," the "jazz girl" became furious and attempted to attack her counsel in open court.

"You lie. Get out of my sight or I'll choke you," she said.

"Run Down?" You Should know--

Chiropractic Health Talk No. 208.
By H. V. McCully, D. C., Ph. C.

That there is a substantial reason for a run-down condition, and that easy relief is to be obtained. The reason lies in an improperly, or incompletely functioning nervous organism, due to interference with the nerves at the spinal column.

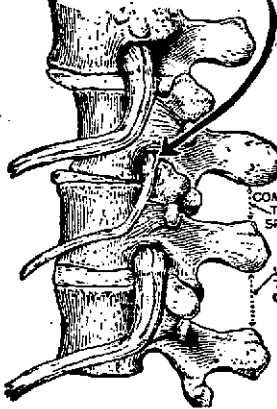

This is due to the fact that the spine, which carries the main trunk line of the nervous system is composed of twenty-four separate and movable bones. Under the stresses and strains of modern life, these bones occasionally move out of normal position.

Then they press upon nerves, and the organs served by such nerves suffer in consequence. The relief lies in our Spinal Adjustments, by means of which these bones are restored to their correct alignment, the pressure released, and cause removed.

Twenty Adjustments Brought Health

"I was nervous, had poor circulation, no endurance and was generally run down. For at least twenty years I had trouble keeping my hands and feet warm. I was surprised to find after twenty adjustments that I could drive in cold weather without gloves. I have more pep, endurance, and am not nervous, as I was. I am convinced from the adjustments received that pinched nerves caused trouble or pain in the organs they lead to, and really think a couple of adjustments each month would keep one full of red blood all the time."—C. Webster Sanborn, Chiropractic Research Bureau, Statement No. 2096-N.

BETTER THAN CALOMEL

Thousands Have Discovered
Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets
are a Harmless Substitute

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets—the substitute for calomel—are a mild but sure laxative, and their effect on the liver is almost instantaneous. These little olive-colored tablets are the result of Dr. Edwards' determination not to treat liver and bowel complaints with calomel.

The pleasant little tablets do the good that calomel does, but have no bad after effects. They don't injure the teeth like strong liquids or calomel. They take hold of the trouble and quickly correct it. Why cure the liver at the expense of the teeth? Calomel sometimes plays havoc with the gums. So do strong liquids. It is best not to take calomel. Let Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets take its place.

Headaches, "dullness" and that lazy feeling come from constipation and a disordered liver. Take Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets when you feel "lousy" and "heavy." They "clear" clouded brain and "perk up" the spirits. 15c and 30c.

New Distinctive Styles For Men and Young Men

You will feel as if you were in the Easter Parade every day if you will permit us to fit you properly in one of our new STYLEPLUS models.

Styles are very different. For instance, this Spring, shoulders are wider, coats are trifle more body tracing and narrower across the hips, and trousers are not quite so wide.

Fabrics are different in pattern, color and weave. Young men want flannels, chevots and cassimeres, in the very light colors including delicate greys, tan tones, lavenders and off shades.

Come in and examine the new clothes. Get into a few. You will surely like them, because they are attractive, well tailored, all-wool.

WEAK, RUN-DOWN NERVOUS, DIZZY

Mrs. Lee Suffered From All These Troubles, but Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound Made Her Well

Terre Haute, Indiana. — "I was weak and run-down and in such a nervous condition that I could hardly do my work. I was tired all the time and dizzy, had no appetite and could not sleep. I tried different medicines for a year but they did not help me. Then my husband saw the ad. for Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound in the newspapers and had me take it. I regained my strength and never felt better in my life. It completely restored me to health. I had practically no suffering when my baby boy was born and he is very strong and healthy. I know that the Vegetable Compound is the best medicine a woman can take before and after childbirth for health and strength. I would be willing to answer letters from women asking about the Vegetable Compound."

Mrs. Wm. J. Lee, Route 1, Box 68, Terre Haute, Indiana.

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is a dependable medicine for all these troubles.

The Days of Frequent Car Buying are Passing

The public is learning after a quarter century of experience that true economy in personal transportation, as in other necessities, lies in buying the best at long intervals rather than less than the best at more frequent intervals.

Sixty per cent of the cars now being traded in on Packard Sixes are less than two years old—25% are less than one year old. But for these new Packard owners the days of frequent car buying are past.

Thousands of Packard Six owners are now well on their way toward the 100,000 mile mark—and with no loss of the original beauty, distinction and comfort of their cars. They have discovered true economy.
